rogram Description

New Beginning Center Battering Intervention and Prevention Program is a program of help and change based on accountability. There are many individuals who have battered those who love them the most, but there are only a few that have the courage to admit they have a problem and take responsibility for choosing non-violence in the future.

Many of those who have completed the New Beginning Center Battering Intervention and Prevention Program have made the following comments:

- That they are now non-violent and report that their change has given them the opportunity to save their relationship
- Others who have completed the program say they have learned how to choose to use non-abusive behavior in all of their relationships.
- Most believe that the program has helped them to become better parents, partners, community members and co-workers.
